The Acoustic Coffee House is a wonderful quarterly event, gathering the community around live eclectic music from various local artists, coffee, wine, desserts and fellowship, all in a creative and inviting coffee shop environment that is open to all ages. The Acoustic Coffee House is a much anticipated fellowship event for our parish members, but it also serves as an important evangelistic ministry of Church of the Holy Communion, creating a "front porch" to our parish life. It is a gathering place that fosters conversation, community and fellowship with members and non-members in a casual and relaxed setting. In the Anglican Tradition, we look to our past at the Celtic Christians as an example in the way they used music, arts, and community as a way to reach the lost, resulting in one of the most effective periods of evangelism in the history of the Church. Although many may not step through the doors of a church on Sunday morning, they will join friends for a cup of coffee listening to great local music, creating an opportunity to share the love of Christ and eventually invite them to be a part of our Sunday worship. Under the Evangelism Committee, Marcus and Melissa Bell are the directors of the Acoustic Coffee House and they are passionate about hosting these relaxing and fun-filled evenings. At the end of the evening, we want guests to walk away feeling they have found a home!
